

TORQUE.TV GOES “DRIVING WITH DANNY”

New York (November 2007) – Torque.TV, the digital television network for motorheads, hit the track with legendary driver, and former Indianapolis 500 winner Danny Sullivan. “Driving with Danny” is an original series available only on Torque.TV!

Torque.TV heads to the scorching hot Southern California desert home of the “Fastest Track in the West--Willow Springs” so Danny can tear it up in two of the most coveted supercars in the world—an Aston Martin Vanquish and 750hp Saleen S7. Two different cars with two different missions, and Danny gives you a taste of both!

“To hit the race track with a car driven by Danny, is really an eye opening event you won’t forget,” said Gregory Stacy, VP of programming. “We decided to buckle up our beautiful, cohost Michelle Lintel (star of SciFi Channel’s “The Black Scorpion”) and have her ride along with Danny for a true driving experience.”

“When approached by Torque.TV about Driving with Danny, I jumped at the opportunity to evaluate vehicles that I’d normally not have the chance to drive,” said Danny Sullivan. “To be involved with broadband TV and all of this new technology at this early stage is very exciting to me.”

“Driving With Danny” goes beyond the traditional magazine road test of hard facts and numbers, and gives the viewer an insight to the personality and purpose of each car from a true driver’s perspective.

“We are extremely thrilled to have Danny involved with this production. The driving skills, knowledge and talent he brings to the table are priceless,” said Jesse Raiford, CEO.

“Driving With Danny” premieres November 27, 2007 on Torque.TV
